EDUCATION

Current
2015-2017 | Master of science in Economics
University of Bologna, Italy
Two year master with core courses in Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Finance, Econometrics, Statistics and Mathematics. Final grade: 110/110 cum laude. Final thesis in international trade: The impact of import competition from Mexico on the US labour market. This research, carried out under the supervision of Professor Gianmarco Ottaviano, draws on international trade theory and econometric instruments to estimate the effects of greater import competition from Mexico on employment, wages and income inequality in the US.

JAN-JUNE 2017 | Berkeley Economics Semester Abroad Program - BESAP
University of California, Berkeley
BESAP provides international students with the unique opportunity to enrich their academic and cultural experience by spending one semester at world-renowned University of California, Berkeley. Under BESAP, a selected group of outstanding international students majoring in economics are individually invited by the Economics Chair to spend one semester in Berkeley, taking upper level courses in the Economics department and interacting with faculty.

2012-2015 | Bachelor in Economics and Business
University Luiss Guido Carli, Rome, Italy
Final grade: 110/110 cum laude. Final Thesis: The Beveridge curve, a study of matching efficiency in the European labour market. This research, accomplished under the supervision of the professor Giovanna Vallanti, draws on macroeconomic theory and econometric instruments to analyze the labor market functioning and the role of policy in the aftermath of the 2007-2009 financial crisis.

2013-2014 | Partnership with the Utrecht school of economics
Utrecht University, The Netherlands
Structured partnership that allowed a selected number of students from the Luiss University in Rome to attend the whole second year of their bachelor at the Utrecht School of Economics.
