

The Rise of the Neo-Protectionism

Research Assistant Internship in the Department of Economics and Finance

1. Tutor

- Prof. Paolo Giordani, pgiordani@luiss.it

2. Skills and Experience required

- Languages: English
- Skills required: International Economics, Econometrics, statistical software (preferably STATA)

3. Job description: “The Rise of the Neo-Protectionism”

The objective of this research project is to study, both theoretically and empirically, the determinants of the anti-globalization sentiment recently arisen across most western democracies.

The intern will be involved in the review of the literature and in the analysis of the data.